CANADA TO BE RESERVOIR IN NEXT CONFLICT

Britain Will Draw On Dominion For All Essential Supplies

By RICHARD McMILLAN
British United Press, Exclusive Cable
to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, July 16.—Canada will be Great Britain's reservoir for all essential products in the next war. Food, aircraft, munitions and all other necessities for a nation at war will be obtained from Canada, which the British authorities now look upon as the strongest link in their chain of defence.

This is the assumption on which the defence departments of the United Kingdom and those responsible for ensuring Britain's food supplies and raw materials are working out defence schemes now being worked out.

It is realized that certain food products will come from Ireland, but Canada will be relied upon for the main bulk, and the Admiralty has already drawn up emergency plans for giving adequate protection for ships coming from the west coast of Canada.

Hostility To Low Gives Way Again To Sane Meeting

Red Deer Hecklers Force Speaker From Stage, Then Invite Him To Resume To Answer Questions

RED DEER, Alta., July 16.—Horsea Meers of Condon, president of the Red Deer Provincial Constituency Social Credit Association, A. J. Hooke, Social Credit member for Red Deer, and Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, were given an extremely rough ride at a meeting at the Red Deer arena on Friday evening. There were about 1,200 in the audience.

UNITY LEAGUE STATED BACK OF HECKLERS

Rowdiness At Red Deer Meeting Organized, Solon Low Says

Heckling at the Social Credit meeting held at Red Deer on Friday evening was organized by the secretary of the Unity League, and was one of the "united and united" tactics which the exhibitors I have seen," Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, declared on his return to his office on Saturday.

"I may say," said Mr. Low, "that it was one of the most brutal demonstrations that I have ever seen anywhere."

ROWDY GROUP
"The great majority of the people were peaceable, decent and anxious to obtain our report. But, according to our information, the Unity group organized a rowdy group of trouble-makers, some imported, and placed them at strategic points."

JURYMEN SAY BOY FATALITY WAS ACCIDENT

Rider Suggests Written Instructions For Pool Attendants

Recommendation that "complete written instructions in regard to their duties be given to the superintendents and assistants at all city swimming pools" was made by a jury inquiring into the drowning of a boy named "accidental drowning" as the cause of death. Medical testimony was that the boy had drowned and that there was no indication of any other thing which would have caused death or contributed to it. The inquest was held in the Masonic Temple, temporary chapel for Foster and McGee.

NO INJURY FOUND

Dr. J. J. Over, University of Alberta pathologist, who performed the autopsy on the boy's body, told the jury, "I found no evidence of any injury or mark whatsoever on the body of the boy. His lungs were markedly distended and contained fluid, and there was fresh in the air tubes leading to the lungs. The heart showed no evidence of anything being wrong with it. I think the boy died of a heart attack."

Fallow Says Ottawa Gives Alberta Shabby Treatment In Highway Appropriations

Allocation Of Money For Public Use Shows Rank Discrimination, He Says

Charging that Alberta has been "treated in the shabbiest possible manner" by the Dominion government in the matter of allocation of parliamentary votes for highways and other construction, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, in a statement issued on Saturday contended that this province is being discriminated against in the matter of financial assistance.

Mr. Fallow recently returned from Ottawa, where he interviewed Dominion government officials regarding a share of highways and other construction.

He points out that his province has received only $75,000 which has been spent on hard-surfacing the Waterloo-Calgary highway, it being stipulated that the money must be used for highways leading to national parks.

On his return Mr. Fallow said he would prepare a statement showing wherein Alberta had been discriminated against.

"Large sums of money have been voted by the Dominion parliament in each of the last three years for the improvement of the province in improving transportation facilities in the mineral areas. Alberta has

Exhibition Ecstasy Is Paramount
Exhibition ecstasy will seize Edmonton next week when the Fair opens with the midway rush and the fairground thrills. Champions of Alberta's world-famed livestock will be on show, with many more animals than ever before in the city's history.

Diamond Jubilee Edmonton Fair Greatest In Its History

Gates Open At Noon Monday As Exhibition Is Started With Children's Free Day—Fun Promised

Displaying the most diversified and largest list of exhibits in its history, embellished by the most colorful, variegated and class midway that a fine-comb search revealed and with a barrel of fun, the Diamond Jubilee Exhibition will be officially opened at 8 p.m. on Monday by W. A. Mather, Winnipeg, general manager of western lines, Canadian Pacific Railways.

Turistlike will be to click at the Diamond Jubilee exhibition in fact open and as that day has been set aside as Children's Day, the opening of the exhibition will be a day of fun and excitement for the young generation can be counted on as all-embracing.

Excitement prevailed throughout the city on Saturday in preparation for the event, which promises to be a far surpass and out-dance all its predecessors.

Excitement will grow greatly well up to fever heat by Sunday, when thousands of children, and their parents will jump in everything from the old driver that has dodged the junk heap for a decade up to the latest from the automotive factories.

Let's take a look and see just what has been done. An unofficial and unauthorized peek into the ledger of the exhibition shows that a total of less than $25,000 has been expended on improvements in the year making a grand aggregate of $75,000 in the last three years.

British Columbia Police Confronted With Another Murder Mystery

WOMAN PUT TO DEATH IN FIERCE FIGHT

Mrs. Green's Battered Body Found in Nelson District

NELSON, B.C., July 16.—British Columbia police, facing their most baffling investigation in many years, today they had questioned several persons as they probed the death of Mrs. E. W. Green, but made no arrests.

Just after officers returned here with Mrs. Green's battered body from the railway cut near Tatum, B.C., where it was found yesterday, Staff Sergeant C. G. Barber of Nelson detachment said the woman had been the victim of a "brutal murder."

ANOTHER CASE. Police were still investigating the mysterious death of 18-month-old Carmen LaJeunesse of Ymir, B.C., whose body was found in a stream early this week, a month after the baby disappeared from near Ymir, Yancouver Girl and mother.

Barber also described her death as "murder," and an autopsy said "Carmen died from a blow on the back of her head."

Mrs. Green, born in Tatum, N.S. 35 years ago and a resident here for 25 years, was taken to Tatum early Friday morning in a taxi cab, police said they had learned. The driver left her at Tatum, five miles west of here, when he told him "friends" would see her home.

FOUGHT FOR LIFE. Sergeant Barber said Mrs. Green apparently struggled violently with her assailant. The woman was battered, her nose fractured in four places. Her throat was slashed, and her hands cut deeply.

The sergeant said his investigation was not yet satisfied. He had found the spot where the woman was slain. Blood was found on the ground where the body was found was "insufficient to indicate she had been killed there."

Dead in Taxi-Cab

PADDINGTON, B.C., July 16.—A taxi cab stood outside an undertaker's shop here with its driver dead at the wheel. He was 45-year-old Frederick Cox.

Edmonton's Week

Next week—the Exhibition. It will be Edmonton's week, as the present week has been Calgary's. Multitudes will come into the city from all parts of central and northern Alberta, and numbers—probably large numbers—will be here from farther afield, including tourists from the eastern provinces and the United States. Edmonton will be the chief centre of attention in the west. The Exhibition has long been recognized as the outstanding agricultural show in western Canada, and arouses correspondingly wide interest.

It will be very much to the advantage of the city, as well as help to make the Exhibition a financial success, if Edmonton people show they are conscious of the place their fair occupies among Canadian exhibitions and in the life of the city and district. The visitors will expect that. They will expect to find the people of the city proud of the fair, interested in it, speaking well of it, attending it, enjoying it, and giving it all the support they can.

Any city of the size would be proud to be able to stage year after year an exhibition as fine as that of Edmonton, as worthily representative of the place where it is held, and the country whose products are displayed. Fair week in Edmonton should be a gala week. The flags should be out everywhere, bunting displayed freely, and the visitors given to understand that Edmonton recognizes their presence as a tribute to the enterprise in maintaining the premier Exhibition of the western provinces.

The Bank Taxation Case

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council decided the legislature of Alberta had not power to levy a tax of one-half of one per cent on the entire paid-up capital of the banks and one per cent on their reserve funds. That, for the time, is all that is known of the finding.

The reasons for the decision are to be given out later. These may indicate whether or not the legislature could impose the proposed tax upon so much of their capital as the banks employ in Alberta and so much of their reserve funds as were accumulated from earnings in the province. The point may not, however, be of importance, for the Premier says the decision does not affect the plans of the Government at all. In that case the re-enactment of the legislation in modified form would seem to be unnecessary and improbable.

Planes for Britain

A new air mission is coming to Canada for the definite purpose of arranging with firms here to manufacture heavy bombing planes for Great Britain. British planes must be working over-time, and plant-expansion going on apace, when it is found necessary to come to Canada for planes or any other type of weapon. Britain is the most highly industrialized country in the world. Canada is predominantly a farming country. Manufactures in Canada for Britain are turning planes in Canada for Britain. The old proverb about "carrying coals to Newcastle." The proposal must bring to Canadians a sense of the vast rearmament program in which Britain is engaged, and the dread of what British taxpayer would induce the peace-loving British taxpayer to sanction such a program.

That planes of the kind required can be produced in Canada there is no doubt. That Canadian industrial workers will benefit by the added employment is obvious, as that business conditions generally will be helped by the expenditure of imported money. If contracts are let and plants established, it may be assumed that this will be done with a view to large and continued production. It would hardly be worth while to place orders in Canada if only a few planes were wanted; and not at all worth while to construct plants and organize staffs unless there was a prospect of big business to be done.

Britain's necessity looks like Canada's opportunity to create a new industry of large proportions and permanent character.

On to Alberta?

The body of unemployed men who are while camped in the Vancouver post office and other public buildings, and later went to Victoria to present appeals or demands for jobs, are back in the mainland city. They are still without employment or the prospect of it; and still refuse to accept the offer of free transportation to the provinces where they formerly lived, and where they would be entitled to relief. It seems fairly apparent the men do not intend to be dispersed in this way, and equally clear that in one way or another they can do out a living despite the refusal of the B.C. authorities to accept responsibility for them.

The presence of this large number of idle men at Vancouver, who are not receiving relief, is a matter of concern to the other western provinces, as well as a direct problem for British Columbia. So long as they stay in Vancouver, other western centres may have only small interest in them. But will they stay there? Some time ago the Alberta authorities registered hot protests because men in considerable numbers were being shipped here from the Coast. What more natural than that a general migration hither should occur as the harvest season approaches, inspiring by the representations of that class awaiting in the harvest fields?

That is a very definite possibility, and one which the federal authorities should see does not materialize. There are no jobs in sight for outsiders in Alberta at harvest time. To allow this body of several hundred men to move into this province under the contrary impression would only change the location of the problem, not solve it. It would do them no good, and would further aggravate the already serious unemployment situation in Alberta.

Editorial Notes

Farmers in the Cypress district appealed to the Provincial Government for advances of land. The Government, they pointed out, has first claim on the crops, to square accounts for advances of seed. That aside, they and farmers in like predicament anywhere, should get help. It would be folly to let crops spoil because the owners could not borrow money to pay harvesting expenses.

The Calgary Albertan thinks the best way to "rehabilitate" Edmonton's street railway is to "tear it up and throw away the pieces," replacing the cars with buses. That is mainly what the rehabilitation plan amounts to, though the substitution is to cover a period of ten years. The Albertan does, however, admit after due consideration that as maintenance of Calgary's street cars have to take second place to Edmonton's. It adds the curious comment that buses are replacing cars "in the civilized world and in eastern Canada."

Old Country Letter

By J. K. NORCROSS

LONDON, England.—(By Mail).—Approes of the "British" movement in the "credit unions" being started for the convenience of people who want to save a little money by way of preparation for a rainy day, some figures on savings in this country may be of interest.

In my day in the west we would make lots of money by what is now called "credit unions" but did not appeal to us. Not that we spent everything we got on unnecessary necessities and luxuries and extravaganzas, but we were apt to put all our surplus, over and above our reasonable expenditures, into interest-bearing investments of one sort or another. Too often, as many of us found out, into more real estate than could well be cared for.

Up to a point this was justifiable, but we were not careful to keep available a reasonable portion of liquid assets in the best form—cash in a savings account.

I was surprised, therefore, when I returned to this country a few years ago, to find that everybody seemed to have money in the bank—everybody, that is, except those who had been long unemployed and had exhausted their resources.

It seemed to be the custom among working-people of small means to take a fixed sum out of the weekly wage, before any of it was spent, to be added to the deposit in one of the savings institutions of the country.

Personal observation was confirmed by statistics published by the National Council, and it appeared that one person in every four of the entire population had a savings bank account and that the average amount to the credit of each, including National Savings, exceeded $300, the total being $7,200,000,000.

Not a bad thing, this. To these savings, which are those of the "little people," are added sums in building societies and provident societies which, it is estimated, bring the total aggregate to more than fifteen billion pounds.

In short, as has been well said, this is a nation of capitalists. There could be no better guarantee for social stability.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK MCVET

The problem of how to correct excessive perspiration is one of the usual problems of the summer season and I receive many letters from those wishing to know of a remedy. Other letters come from those whose main trouble is that perspiration has become too much for them. These two symptoms may exist separately, or they may be combined in the same patient.

Excessive perspiration may prove very annoying, both because of its being so noticeable to others, and because of its tendency to irritate the fabric of clothing. This disorder is technically known as "hyperhidrosis," and is a disturbance of the sweat glands which causes them to throw out an increased amount of perspiration. It is not a disease, but a condition, such as the "sweaty palms," the "sweaty feet," or the "sweaty armpits," which may be the result of a nervous condition.

It has been known for a long time that certain nervous troubles are likely to produce an excessive perspiration and such disorders as anxiety, depression, and nervousness are likely to produce this symptom. Profuseness of the perspiration is also known to accompany certain other diseases such as malaria, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, pneumonia, gout, rickets, etc. It is also seen in obesity or overweight, and in certain conditions in which there is an overactivity of the thyroid gland.

Excessive sweating of the hands and feet is probably the most common form of hyperhidrosis. The affected parts may be cold and clammy, or of a bluish shade, or they may be overly warm with a purplish shade of the skin.

The treatment of this condition is usually possible by taking of good general health in every way. I find that the taking of sweat baths will be a good method of stopping excessive perspiration under the arms.

As a general rule when the disagreeable or painful conditions of the skin are not too severe, the glands under the arms will probably cease working overtime. Most people use certain preparations under the arms, but these are of little value in preventing perspiration. Such use may be continued when one is called upon to attend social affairs, but these preparations are probably best used only occasionally. There is a possibility of checking the perspiration interferes to some extent with a natural eliminative function of the skin. Try to control the symptom by building good general health and by taking sweat baths and then rely upon these perspiration preventives when you are called to do so.

Excessive perspiration is so noticeable that it becomes a major problem, consult your doctor as to local treatment to be used. Bromides is the traditional name given to the disorder of the sweat glands causing an offensive perspiration. A markedly unpleasant perspiration may indicate a toxic condition of the body, similar to the state called auto-intoxication, or it may in some instances be due to an invasion of the sweat glands by a group of bacteria. Various drugs and foods have been known to cause this offensive odor among them being benzene, alcohol, acetone, and iodine.

Current Comment

Before the Rowell Commission

Ontario and Quebec are the richest of the provinces. They have many natural advantages. As the West sees the situation they are also the chief beneficiaries of the national fiscal policy. Their prosperity, as it looks to the rest of Canada, perfectly exemplifies the service which the federal system which might lead to change. They are naturally for the status quo. The Prairie and Maritime Provinces are just as naturally reformers, and, therefore, eager to present arguments and statistical statements tending to show a need for change. It has been suggested that the inquiry has produced or encouraged sectional feeling in Canada. That is clearly not so. The cleavage existed before the Rowell Commission was thought of. As the national interest is obviously better served by an open debate on this difference of opinion than by efforts to hush it up by singing "O Canada."—Winifred Free Press.

SIDE GLANCES

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study the limit of 350 words must be insisted on.

Gallen Misinformed

Editor, Bulletin: On July 10 issue of the Bulletin, under the heading "Fire Germans," Mr. Gallen, the letter writer, asserts that all Germans, whether naturalized or not, should be fired from their positions, because they chose to join non-existent "Nazis organizations." Apparently, the writer is better informed as to the ways and means of forcing the German-Canadians into these organizations than the Germans themselves. It would be foolish for us to deny that the sentiment among the German-Canadians is one of extreme satisfaction in the fact that the board of Germany and the Italian fortitude to lead the German nation out of chaos into a land where unemployment is non-existent.

Apparently Mr. Gallen is not able to distinguish between the Canadian Fascist movement and the movement of the German-Canadians, and since he is afraid of the Canadian Fascist movement, he attacks the 460,000 German-Canadians.

O. TANGEMAN, 10247 107 St., Edmonton, Alta.

Reform or Chaos

Editor, Bulletin: What is the real cause of poverty? Or what is poverty? Think we agree that poverty is the lack of security of the body and life. Most of the things which human wants are called "needs." Wealth can be produced only in one way, namely, by the application of work to natural resources or to raw materials. We have an abundance of raw materials and products. It takes capital to hire men and machinery, and we have no capital. Therefore, where lies the fault? We have all the essentials. But there is a third thing which is missing, "organization" or "management." By elimination, the fault must be there.

Our objective is more wealth and more employment, and we must use it completely. The only possible limiting factor to that objective is lack of resources. But these are unlimited. So the task is to correct the fault in management. We must direct our forces to that end.

That is why Herridge says the issue is "Reform or Chaos." And we must direct our forces to that end. We must direct our forces to that end. We must direct

C.P.R. Announces Staff Changes: Ansley Retires

WINNIPEG, July 15.—Changes in the operating department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, consequent upon the retirement on pension of W. M. "Bill" Ansley, its assistant superintendent for the company at Regina, bring E. J. Worth, assistant superintendent at Weyburn, to Regina as Mr. Ansley's successor.

J. C. Jones, roadmaster at Regina, is promoted to the position of assistant superintendent at Weyburn. T. Roulston, roadmaster at Regina, goes to Weyburn and A. Brimble, section foreman at Yorkton, is appointed roadmaster at Regina. Mr. Ansley, who has been a railroader for 44 years, is known and esteemed throughout western Canada.

France Restores Historic Site For King, Queen

PARIS, July 15.—The foreign ministry announced Thursday it had completed restoration of its historic building on the Quai d'Orsay, where King George and Queen Elizabeth will stay during their state visit to France next week. Nearly 400 men worked for three months to transform the ministry from a jumble of offices to a modern palace to serve for four days as the home of the King and Queen. The work cost 8,000,000 francs (about $225,000).

Pointing the way to bigger and better times in the line of Tuxis activity for the fall and future seasons, the provincial Tuxis camp held annually at Kasota Beach, Sylvan Lake, was recently completed as the most successful camping season to date. Renowned over the province, "Camp Tuxis" boasts some of the finest outdoor facilities for sports, hikes and general good times. During the ten-day period starting July 1, many handicrafts were studied and most interesting and helpful discussions and study periods were conducted by outstanding boys' work leaders from the province. Alvin Cooper of Calgary, Boy Scout secretary for the province, Alex Perie of Edmonton, Lawrence Sobier of Stony Plain, and Harmon Burpee of Edmonton, were among the leaders.

CAMP UNDER WAY
 "Camp Tuxis" officially got under way at the Sylvan Lake camp on Friday with a traditional Indian opening ceremony held in the council ring. Roger Plummerford, provincial Tuxis camp leader, presided at the opening. Mr. Plummerford, who is also a member of the Grand Chief Boy Legion. The camp council carried out a daily program of sports, hikes, and study periods. The camp was held at the Sylvan Lake camp, which is a beautiful location on the shore of Sylvan Lake. VII-PEE! RIDE 'EM COWBOY! Today's Picture Story

Here's Sport With a Kick, As Rodeos Unlimber

It's man against horse, the courage and skill of the rider against the sliver strength and lightning speed of untamed broncos, when the western rodeo season gets under way. These unquelled rodeo action pictures were made for Calgary, the show which claimed the title as the "Daddy of 'em all among western rodeos." This rider is out of the saddle and seems about to go over the horse's head as the broncho gives his heels a flick.

This broncho has leaped straight off the ground almost as high as a man's head, then twisted his body in what is called "unfishing." Note how the rider has leaned quickly the other way to maintain the balance. The broncho ridden by the "bustlers" at the Calgary rodeo are deliberately chosen for their known wildness and manners, and are drawn by the riders by lot, so all may have an equal chance at prizes that mount into the thousands.

"Ride 'em, cowboy!" shriek the crowd, but this particular contest has gone to the horse, which by a sudden check and turn of direction, has flung his rider clear. Note how the expert rider is already trying to twist his body so as to land with the minimum chance of injury to himself. To be a good broncho buster you must know how to fall as well as how to ride, or you won't be a good broncho buster—for long.

They ride without bridle and with only rope halter for control. This cowboy has put the broncho into a vertical stand, a highly dangerous stunt, for it is not unheard of for the horse to lose his balance and fall over backward on his rider, which may mean serious injury. From Calgary to Belle Fourche, Dondelton, and a hundred other western cities, the rodeo season grows these brilliant congaits.

INTERNE TROUBLE

—By ELLINORE COWAN STONE—

CAST OF CHARACTERS
TRAN DEARBORN—bachelor, student, who ran into love and trouble when he met Miss Armstrong.
DR. BOB BENCHLEY—her handsome young intern, he has trouble, too, keeping up with his job.
DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—head surgeon, Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.

Yesterday, opportunity comes to them when Dr. Sargent, who is an Italian patient, she does not know that someone is in the room as she quiet the injured man.

CHAPTER VII

TRAN did not notice that when he stepped with a swift question, someone who stood in the background stepped him with a quick, low word. She only knew that the eyes of the man on the table clung to her for reassurance, and that under her hand the quivering in his arm lessened, the tense muscles relaxed.

And for the first time in her life, Tran felt power. It was something entirely apart from the quickness of mind that made play of manual tasks. It was the sense of power that comes from having strength to lend to another in need of strength.

She did not know how long she stood so without looking up, feeling quivering sparks relay under her fingers and the calm assurance of her voice—before a white-clad nurse came with an orderly and wheeled the patient away.

It was only then that Dr. Benchley said with the irony of a patience too long strained, "If it isn't too much to ask, it might be interesting to get some idea just what that was all about."

Tran lifted her head and answered absently out of the spell of that newly discovered sense of power. "He thought he was dying. I told him it was going to be all right."

"As simple as that, eh?" commented Dr. Benchley dryly.

Tran did not answer. Instead she turned and walked like a woman in a tense straight out of the room without even seeing that the terrible Dr. Stephen Sargent stood just inside the door, watching her with a thoughtful frown between the arched sweep of his brows.

Once outside, Tran found that her knees were shaking so helplessly that she had to cling to the wall as she went along the corridor.

So that was what Miss Philbin meant when she talked about "giving to the patient."

There was another thing about that evening that Tran never knew.

Late that night, Dr. Sargent, coming from the operating room gray with fatigue, halted in the corridor outside Miss Armstrong's office at sight of light framed by the transom, knocked, and went inside.

Miss Armstrong, her cap slightly askew, was brooding over a sheet of reports. At this time of year Miss Armstrong often brooded well into the morning over the reports of her students.

"Hm!" grunted Dr. Sargent. "And so on—far into the night. I saw her. And this is the hard-bellied lady who sends her girls to bed at 10:30?"

"I might say. 'And this is the head-surgeon who rides his subordinates for turning up red-eyed for want of sleep, and then piles a midnight charity operation on top of a full schedule.' . . . Well, how did it go, Stephen?"

Miss Armstrong had been supervisor of surgical nursing at Saint Vincent's when Stephen Sargent had been the rawest of young interns.

"Rupured before I could get to it," he said, sliding down to his chair and thrusting his hands into his pockets, his long legs stretched out before him. "The poor devil had a wife and three children, and couldn't make up his mind to take a chance till this evening, the thing hit him like a bomb shell."

He took a silver case from his pocket, extracted a cigaret, and lit it.

"You really do smoke too much, Stephen," Miss Armstrong said as if from force of habit, but her mind was obviously not on her words.

"Just what I was telling young Benchley about himself not two hours ago," he agreed with a wry grin.

"Young Benchley," the white-haired woman echoed musingly. "And not so many years ago you were 'young Sargent' . . . How old are you, Stephen? Thirty-six, isn't it?"

"Pretty young for a man to have taken the hurries you have," "telling young Benchley that," he grinned. "He thinks I have one foot in the grave already. And do you know, Armstrong, I'm not sure I'm right. I've reached the stage where all this flaming youth underfoot around here get me down sometimes. . . . But what I came about, was one of your prodigals."

"What a strange coincidence," Dr. Sargent went on, staring at the ceiling, and luxuriatingly wreathing his head in smoke. "It's the one who was up in court—together with young Benchley—a month or so ago—the one with the very like saucers and the tongue-in-the-cheek look who goes around devious everyone with questions. . . . What is it they call her?"

"At various stages of her career 'Uglier' and 'Acid' . . . Later, I believe, it's been 'The Elephant's Child' because, as you suggest, she goes around asking questions. . . . I suppose she's been asking you some?"

Stephen Sargent chuckled. "Far from it. She takes it on the lam if she sees me coming a half mile down the corridor. Somebody told her that I eat little girls alive."

"So you've noticed it," murmured Miss Armstrong with a little secret smile. "Well, what is your complaint?"

"What would your guess be?" he countered quizzically.

"Well, the general opinion among her seniors seems to be that she is temperamental and suited for nursing."

"More interne trouble?" he asked, watching a smoke wreath curl to the ceiling without meeting her eyes.

"There have been rumors," she eyed him steadily. "But I don't suppose."

"What else seems to be wrong with the girl?" Dr. Sargent countered.

"An overdeveloped sense of humor for one thing. . . . The tongue-in-the-cheek, look. I think you called it. Some of her instructors complain of that. There seems to be an amazing difference of opinion. Miss Philbin, who has her own seat, says she has seen her with such concentration and such deft, sure workmanship. . . . Miss Miller, under whose supervision she had sometimes worked in the wards, confirms that, but tells me that she is emotionally unstable."

"Hm! I doubt if Katherine Miller would recognize an honest emotion if she met it naked in broad daylight," Stephen Sargent said with a sudden fitness of tone that made the color of nursing glances at him sharply.

"I shouldn't be so sure of that," she said, a dry smile in her shrewd dark eyes. "Even so, it is pretty

Terpsi Star

GINGER RAY, delightful terpsichorean star of "Cher Pares" which features Raynell and her Gang, presents one of the most gorgeously costumed musical revues ever presented in the outdoor amusement world. This is another of the big shows coming here for the Diamond Jubilee Exhibition with the mile-long Royal American Midway.

Babes Reunite Parents

Tired of drudgery and poverty after she and her husband had separated, Mrs. Harrison Clark left two of her four children with friends and abandoned the two youngest, Judy and Thomas, near Albany, N.Y. On seeing the children's pictures in a newspaper, Clark came to Albany, returned to his wife and obtained a job. Here you see the happy family reunion.

well known that the unconventional Miss Miller is your first choice for the operating room.

"Naturally," he agreed. "She had the quickest eye, the coolest intelligence, the deftest hands of all the nurses I have ever worked with. She'd have made a damned good surgeon if you ask me. But do you know, Armstrong, I've sometimes wondered, if I were down and out and hurting like the devil and scared within an inch of my life—the way we get them every day—that she is emotionally unstable."

"Hm! I doubt if Katherine Miller would recognize an honest emotion if she met it naked in broad daylight," Stephen Sargent said with a sudden fitness of tone that made the color of nursing glances at him sharply.

"I shouldn't be so sure of that," she said, a dry smile in her shrewd dark eyes. "Even so, it is pretty

Home Again

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who only a short time ago was "America's most eligible bachelor," returned the other day with his bride, the former Maureen Hudson, from their honeymoon in Bermuda. Photo shows the happily-smiling couple as they departed at Port Washington, L.I., from the plane that brought them from Bermuda.

France to Welcome King and Queen

The state visit which King George and Queen Elizabeth will make to Paris on July 19 will be the first state visit of a British monarch to France in 34 years. Their Majesties' visit will be concluded on July 22 when they dedicate the Austrian war memorial at Villers Bretonneux. President Albert Lebrun will act as host to the royal couple during their visit and has arranged an elaborate military display around the Arc de Triomphe which will emphasize the close friendship existing between England and France.

Cold Steel and Bombs to Subdue Chinese In Custody

With not a single house intact, this street in Haichow, China, is typical of all the rest, reduced to wreckage and rubble by the terrific pounding of Japanese bombs and shells. Japanese air forces have now been concentrating on Canton. Since

May 38, more than 8,000 persons have been killed by air raiders in the progressive city of South China. In reply to protests by the United States and Great Britain, Japanese officials said the bombing must go on.

The vanguard of the Japanese war machine that is rolling through Central China is shown here charging with the bayonet on a Chinese position near Suchow. The most savage fighting of the Sino-Japanese "incident" has taken place in this section within the past few weeks.

Charged with killing his employer's daughter and with a brutal attack upon her mother, William Gunning, 21-year-old farmhand is shown in custody at Brockville, Ont., after his arrest. The victim was Mrs. J. M. Mott, who remains dangerously injured with a fractured skull, and Miss Irene Mott, who accompanied to a similar injury. They were allegedly attacked in their respective bedrooms in the Mott farm home in "Killey township near Brockville. Gunning vanished following the attack and has been missing only after an extensive manhunt. No motive for the attack has been found.

The Show Window of Central and Northern Alberta

The Edmonton Exhibition has truly been the great annual show window of this rich agricultural area of the West... for sixty years without a break. Displays that present every phase of activity in Alberta life. Livestock... Agricultural Exhibits... Displays of Poultry and Eggs... Dairy Products... Fruit... Vegetables... Horticulture. Demonstrations show actual processes and uses of many of the products. A whole afternoon may be spent in the Manufacturers' Building viewing the Industrial and Commercial Booths. Special attention is directed to the greatly increased displays of farm machinery and equipment located to the right of the south entrance to the grounds. This year space in the Manufacturers' Building and all show buildings is taxed to capacity so great is the interest in Edmonton's Diamond Jubilee Exhibition.

Two Nights of Giant Fireworks...

Two nights of gorgeous fireworks displays is but another of the extra entertainment features arranged by the management in honor of the Exhibition's 60th Birthday. Don't miss these magnificent displays on Tuesday and Friday evenings at 10 p.m. in front of grandstand.

Well-Known Exhibitors Enter In Livestock Classes At Exhibition

Record Number Of Entries Reported In Stock Section

Development of agricultural Alberta is seen in the interest taken by stockmen in Edmonton Exhibition's Diamond Jubilee celebration. Entries exceed the 1,400 mark, which is about 100 more than last year. Barns and pens at the grounds will be heavily taxed to house the splendid exhibits.

With a fine outdoor show ring, cattle, sheep and swine will be judged under the most ideal conditions. The cattle rings have been graded and seeded, more trees planted on the avenue just north of the arena.

The Edmonton Exhibition association has been improving its show equipment during the past few years until it is gradually becoming the equal to the best on the continent.

HEAVY HORSES

In the heavy horse classes, such veteran exhibitors are represented, with Clydesdales, as W. J. Burns, Lawrence Rye and Thane Bros., all of Edmonton, and J. W. Munro, of Canby; A. C. Leslie & Sons, of Watrous, Sask., and Jos. Hagerty of Oids, the latter an exhibitor of many years, but missing from recent show rings at Edmonton. A number of other exhibitors of Clydesdales are also listed in the catalogue. Percherons and Belgians will also be well represented, exhibitors of Belgians including J. A. Strange and Mrs. Strange of Clair, Hans Danielson of Riverview, Qui Barre, and Harry Gaul of Fort Saskatchewan. The exhibit

E. Hughes of New, Alta. Hughes Bros. of High River, Frank Colquhoun, of Cranfield, W. A. Crawford, of Edmonton, and several other equally famous breeders.

Aberdeen Angus cattle will be shown by Edwards Bros. of Watrous, Ont., and the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., department of natural resources, Calgary.

The exhibits of Red Poll cattle are much more numerous than last year, with one exhibitor from Saskatchewan in the person of Roy Fish of Weyburn, and three from St. Albert, Altonbrook Bros. W. G. Jamieson and A. G. Grant.

Holsteins from the well known herds of Hays Bros. of Calgary, J. W. Hoffer and B. E. Hoffer of Edmonton, J. W. Innes of Woodstock, Ont., the C.P.R. Supply Farm of Strathmore, Alta., and A. J. Davidson of Edmonton will represent that breed at the Edmonton exhibition show ring.

DISTANT POINTS

Ayrshires will be shown by Richards Bros. of Red Deer, Tom Hawkes of Golden, B.C., Rowland Ness of Dewinton, James Taylor of Stoney Creek, and A. S. Tanager of Foothills, Alta.

Jerseys will be shown by C. D. and D. J. Egan of Wetaskiwin, J. W. Innes of Woodstock, Ont., Chas. Dixon of Edmonton, the Huntingdon Farm of Wetaskiwin, and W. J. Rigney & Sons of Bon Accord. Jerseys are rapidly growing in popularity, and some of the breeders in the Edmonton district are becoming famous for the quality of their herds.

Sheep exhibits are most satisfactory, and some of the flocks will travel a long distance to reach Edmonton exhibition, entries coming from E. W. Garney of Brim, Ont., R. B. Hunter of Winnipeg, the Rockwood Boys and Girl club of Rockwood, Ont., S. Crossman of Winnipeg, C.P.R. farm of Calgary, P. J. Beck of Drumheller, Douglas R. Fidget of Golden, B.C., J. B. Kennedy of Iderton, Ont., and A. E. Pearce of Tawassiat, as well as the exhibitors of such well known local breeders as G. B. Ball & Sons of Edmonton, and E. B. Williamson also this city.

SWINE EXHIBITS

The swine exhibits might be classified as more nearly local in character, A. G. Weir of Aberdeen, Sask., H. M. Clark of Brandon, Man., and Alex McPhail of Brandon being the only exhibitors from points outside the province. However, this is more than compensated by the long list of local breeders, which includes R. C. Marier of Bremner, Lord Rodney of Fort

Dairy Show

Saskatchewan, A. E. Poirer of Tawassiat, P. J. Beck of Drumheller, B. Colman of Coronado, G. B. Ball & Sons, R. J. Ferguson, and A. J. Gieswell of Edmonton, together with a number of other equally keen swine enthusiasts.

EXHIBITS FOR LACOMBE FAIR OF HIGH GRADE

LACOMBE, July 14.—Perfect weather greeted a good crowd on the opening day of the 41st annual Lacombe livestock exhibition, fair, rides and concessions, softball tournaments, children's sports and even the Albertan livestock exhibition feature the two-day attraction.

Prizes and a $100 top money in the town softball bracket by defeating another Lacombe entry in a hard exciting battle 13 to 11 Friday night. Prize money was $20 for first and $5 for second placing. Early settlers from the various surrounding districts gather each year in the position for old timers reunion.

Saturday featured the livestock industry have been chosen to judge the livestock exhibits at the Edmonton exhibition. Following are the judges:

Coroner Renders Suicide Verdict

ROSSLAND, B.C., July 16.—Dr. R. H. Christie, deputy coroner, said Mrs. Dorothy Strawbridge, whose body was found in the city reservoir here last night, "planned to take her life."

Dr. E. E. Thupfitt, testifying at the coroner's inquiry into the woman's death, said he found no indication of wounds or bruises, and that it was his opinion Mrs. Strawbridge died by drowning.

Train China's Youth

SHANGHAI, July 16.—According to the China Weekly Review 3,000 Chinese boys and girls are being trained for war in "National Resistance Camps," the boys as soldiers and the girls as nurses and other aid.

Post Office Tender Low At $399,000

OTTAWA, July 16.—The A. Janin Building Company, Limited, of Montreal, Friday submitted the lowest tender for construction of Ottawa's new post office building. Award of the contract will not be made, however, until the department of public works decides on the kind of stone to be used. The company submitted tenders of $399,000 for building in limestone and granite, and $602,400 for construction in Quebec stone.

Famed Impressario Excels Previous Efforts For Grandstand Revue

CHORUS AND COMEDY ARE ON PROGRAM

Ernie Young has 30 years' experience as Theatrical Producer.

Backed by more than 20 years' experience as the controversial and outstanding revue producer, Ernie Young, of Chicago, has excelled every previous effort to bring to the Diamond Jubilee exhibition an outstanding show this year. He produced the first grandstand revue and is still standing in the front ranks for this year of show.

The Jubilee International will be presented by a group of highly specialized chorus girls, assisted by a number of the most noted and well-known comedians. Those who saw the show, "Born to Dance," will recognize the Madells; the Sellers were in Sonja Henie's International Ice Carnival. The former is a comedy number; the latter are acrobatic comedians giving something rather new—working on ice.

The three St. Johns brothers, giving one of the best acts ever presented at Edmonton exhibition, and very highly rated by Ernie Young, are western Canadian born and raised at Melrose, Sask. Prof. Lamborn and his telephone are comedy of the cocked type, but extremely clever and amusing. Other internationally famous acts are Dix and Letta Nash, and the California Varsity Eight.

The revue proper opens with comedy of the obvious type, "Ban on the Range," and introducing Betty the Horse. Then comes a variety of specialty items, with a jewel number that is even more pleasing than the magnificent Bird of Paradise number so popular last year. The jewel number, presents the chorus depicting jewels of various colors, and quipped by the Diamond girl. The finale, Topland—is something new in circus numbers.

FIREWORKS TO BLAZE IN SKY AT EXHIBITION

Two complete fireworks programs will be given at the exhibition. The first will be on Tuesday night, July 18, at the exhibition grounds, and the second will be at the same time on Friday night.

Fireworks are provided by the Hord Fireworks Co. of Hamilton, Ont. The company is the largest fireworks company in North America, and will be the only one to present a program of this extent at all the important Canadian fairs. Bill Fudge, manager of the company, as Lord Bowler.

Mr. Fudge has supervised the fireworks program at the Edmonton exhibition annually for the past 20 years at least, and is so expert at this rather exacting business that the Exhibition authorities, specially in their contract with Mr. Fudge, should be available for his work. Thanks to his expert fireworks at Edmonton exhibitions are absolutely made for all concerned.

MARJORIE AND HER LION ACT SPECTACULAR

Girl Trainer Has Her Hands Full Of Lions In Show

When Marjorie Kemp launches her career as a wild animal trainer at A Century of Progress in Chicago she brought into existence an attraction that each year becomes more and more spectacular and attracts ever increasing throngs of operators to the huge Royal American midway.

Here at one of a score of tent theatres that will appear on the midway at this year's Fair, with Royal American Shows.

DODGE THE LIONS

One of Miss Kemp's most thrilling performances for the 1938 season includes her brother, Captain Walter B. Kemp, motorcycle messenger late of Verdun, as well as two full grown Indian jungle-bred lions. Miss Kemp forces the lions to pose on pedestals on the vertical pole, on pedestals while her brother rides a motorcycle over and under them at terrific speed.

With the roar of the motorcycle and Captain Kemp's spectacular zooming and plunging over, under and around the lions, Miss Kemp has her "hands full of lions" throughout the act.

SPECTATORS SAFE

While the performance is highly spectacular, showmen say, there is no danger for spectators because a heavy guard cable near the top of the wall prevents motorcycles or riders from jumping into the crowd in case of an accident.

Miss Kemp's joy ride with a jungle beast, the act that made her internationally famous at A Century of Progress, will be presented here this year. In addition to this, there are six motorcycle lion tamer daredevil thrillers in the same attraction on the Royal American midway.

Poultry

C. C. RATSON, director of poultry exhibits for the fair.

ROYAL SHOWS IS CARNIVAL GROUP ON FAIR MIDWAY

The midway at Edmonton exhibition will be furnished by the biggest carnival company on the continent—the Royal American Shows. This organization owns most of its own shows, contrary to the usual policy of firms, companies, that of working individual shows on a commission basis.

The moment a new show is brought out it is inspected, and if considered an addition to the midway, it is bought and added to the organization. The same is true of the rides. Most of the midway rides are invented and built by a small group of people specializing in this form of entertainment, and Carl Sedimentary, head Manager Perry Abbott, of Edmonton exhibition, last winter in Winnipeg, when discussing midway matters, that he now had several new shows and rides under inspection, and would bring them if they measured up to his exacting requirements. One of the new shows this year will be New's Ark.

UNITED 60 YEARS WITHOUT QUARREL

VANCOUVER, July 16.—Sixty years of married life without a quarrel is the boast of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stride of Vancouver who recently celebrated their 60th diamond wedding anniversary.

"I took my temper out on the family and instead of my wife's things were away," said Mr. Stride.

Married at Portsmouth, Eng., in 1878, Mr. Stride recalled how he had an ex-convict champion to protect his wife when she marched with the Salvation Army in his stormy days of his youth 60 years ago.

Constable Gives Safety Lessons

SYDNEY, N.S.W., July 16.—Probably Constable Lewis of the city police force takes a lot of satisfaction in his work.

He gives safety lectures in public squares on the safety of the children. He gives attention to the children who are present at the lectures, and they take. There has been a noticeable decline in the number of accidents involving children.

Sixty Years Of Progress Shown Here

More than half a hundred commercial exhibits will be housed in the Manufacturers Building, shown above, during fair week. These exhibits include at much time and expense by Edmonton firms, indicate the progress made in this district during the past 60 years. As the picture shows, the building has been renovated and renovated and boasts the inscription: "60 years to commemorate the diamond jubilee celebration."

Ice ladies, night watchmen, and the many odd jobs, the proper handling of which contributes so much to the successful and satisfactory operation of a big exhibition, and for which in the majority of cases it is not possible to stage a "rehearsal."

NEATNESS AND COURTESY
Every employee of the exhibition is impressed with the first requirement of his service—efficiency, and the second—courtesy to the public. This year, for the first time, all ticket takers and sellers will be provided with a neat blue and gold cap, a band on which indicates that he is an employee of the exhibition; each must also wear a tie, furnished by the Exhibition association, and in the exhibitor's official card, and a white shirt; if the weather makes a coat necessary, this must be either dark

R. V. PRICE, director of the Edmonton Exhibition, is on a committee in charge of commercial exhibits.

Manager Albert with Chief A. G. Shute of the city police force, and Chief A. Dutton of the fire department, ensure that they maintain an adequate staff on definite duty at the exhibition grounds during the exhibition. The police headquarters is located immediately east of the grand stand, and in addition to maintaining the traffic at times no easy task—they also mingle, very often as plainclothesmen, with the crowds, keeping an eye open for the infrequent unwelcome visitor from other points. Their main duty, they have found, thanks to the excellent reputation of the Edmonton police force, is restoring lost children to their parents.

As for the firemen, day and night they keep a close watch on the exhibition buildings, for impatient firemen and their combined fire hall, lounge hall and bunkhouse (for some of them sleep on the ground) that weeks is to be found immediately north of the 15th avenue entrance to the exhibition grounds, adjacent to the Agricultural and Poultry Exhibit buildings.

TASTE IS ONLY CERTAIN TEST BUTTER SHOW

Ever since the Exhibition association spent $1,500 to install a modern exhibit case for butter and cheese, this department of the exhibition has been growing rapidly until this year, in class 2003, for creamery butter made in May and creamery butter made in June and July, to be tested for its flavor and keeping qualities, there are 124 entries.

In the class for butter of June make sent for storage in Edmonton until the time of the exhibition, there are 112 entries. These entries are from all the provinces from Quebec to British Columbia with the exception of Ontario. Other classes are also well completed.

The federal department of agriculture provides the butter judges, and they have no easier task; there is only one way to test for flavor—and that is, to taste for flavor. How many of our readers would have any ability left to either taste, or test, for creamery butter made in May and creamery butter made in June and July, to be tested for its flavor and keeping qualities, there are 124 entries.

According to the National Safety Council, one life was lost every 13 minutes of every day last year in traffic alone.

CITY HOTELMEN GET READY FOR BIG FAIR CROWD

Hotel men are looking for a boom in business during diamond jubilee fair week, as recent indications promise the biggest crowd of visitors to Edmonton in the history of the Edmonton Exhibition association.

The fact that the association this year is celebrating its 60th anniversary makes this metropolis a Mecca for visitors from all parts of western Canada. And in order to handle the business, all Edmonton hotels are preparing additional facilities in order to give extra special service.

Visitors to Edmonton during fair week are assured of every comfort and convenience in hotels, here while stopping for the big jubilee exhibition.

FRESH FLOWERS WILL BLOOM AT FAIR NEXT WEEK

Masses of flowers in a profusion of delicate colors and vivid hues will decorate the flower exhibits at the Edmonton Diamond Jubilee fair next week, if the high state of culture already attained in the exhibition offers a fine collection of the various classes in this division.

All exhibits with the exception of the roses and sweet peas, must be set up and ready for judging by 9:30 a.m. Monday, July 18. The roses and sweet peas will be judged at 9 a.m. Wednesday of exhibition week.

Interesting feature of the show will be the one-farm exhibits, in which everything on display from poultry, cheese, eggs, preserves, right down to grain, must be the produce of only one farm. These exhibits will be judged at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Shadow boxes—flowers arranged in picture frames—expected to be one of the most attractive displays in the entire show, and more entries than in other years have already been tabulated.

Entry slips for cut flowers, roots and vegetables will be received up to Monday afternoon.

Biggest Improvement Project In Fair's History Launched This Year

$35,000 SPENT ON FACILITIES IN EXHIBITION

Substantial Program Completed for 1938 Summer Fair

Visitors to Edmonton exhibition this summer cannot fail to be impressed by the improved appearance of the exhibition grounds generally. Around $35,000 has been expended in fittingly dress up the grounds for this summer's first consecutive annual summer fair.

When the gates open on July 16 it will be to admit the public to one of the finest exhibition parks in Canada—and possibly in the North American continent.

HAVE NAME

This is but fitting, for the Edmonton exhibition and Manager P. W. Abbott, K.C., have a reputation that is continent-wide for outstanding improvements in the face of depression and adversity.

The association last year showed a profit of almost $2000 in one year's operations and a net surplus at the end of the fiscal year of over $10,000.

A list of improvements effected

Seating Facilities Increased At Fair

Approximately $75,000 has been spent by the Edmonton Exhibition Association on improvements to the fair grounds during the past three years, according to Manager Percy W. Abbott, K.C. This year $35,000 was spent on the rehabilitation of buildings, and some of the improvements completed earlier this year are pictured above. The big grandstand has been remodelled and painted, and a fine new entrance has been constructed in the west end of the stand. Entirely new bleachers providing more accommodation have been built west of the grandstand, as seen at right in the above picture. Combined ticket-selling booths are also a new feature of admission facilities for the week. The booths are now built together—an improvement over the individual booths used formerly. The enclosure in front of the grandstand has been inclosed from one to four feet, improving drainage and also providing better visibility for standing crowds during the races and platform shows.

COAST CRICKETERS SECOND STRAIGHT GAME

Drever, Kellogg Give Fine Display

THE touring group cricketers from Vancouver had little trouble chalking up their second straight victory over Edmonton eleven yesterday as they piled up 159 runs for seven wickets to 125 for the Edmonton juniors. The Edmonton team were all under Highland eleven and a forties during the afternoon were the linings of Bill Drever of Edmonton and the bowling of Vancouver's Bill Kellogg. Drever, blood test captain of the E.A.C. hockey club during the winter months made a brilliant start on the grand total of 70 runs. Kellogg took seven Edmonton wickets for the amazingly low total of 22 runs.

The British Columbia boys required only ten hours and 27 minutes to take the Edmonton wickets. And it was only the superb bowling of Bill Drever that held the coast eleven at bay so long. Just one hour and 40 minutes after they went to the wickets, the Vancouver players had run up 100 runs and 45 minutes later they joined the Edmonton lot. Pete Jones smacking out a boundary for the winning run.

THIS WORLD

by JOE KESSLER

The CASSOWARY

THIS LARGE, FLIGHTLESS BIRD IS INFERIOR IN SIZE ONLY TO THE EMU AND OSTRICH... AND, LIKE THE LATTER BIRD, WILL ATTEMPT TO SWALLOW ANYTHING IN SIGHT.

DESPITE THE RHYMES OF THE CASSOWARY THAT LIVED "ON THE PLAINS OF TIMBUCTOO," THE BIRD IS NOT FOUND IN AFRICA, BUT IS A NATIVE OF NEW GUINEA AND NEARBY "ISLANDS."

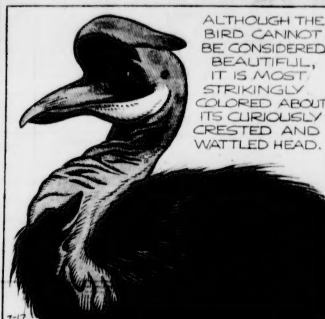

SOME SPECIES STAND ALMOST FIVE FEET HIGH, AND PROTECT THEMSELVES BY DELIVERING A HARD, FORWARD KICK! THEY HAVE POWERFUL LIMBS, AND THE INNER TOE ON EACH FOOT BEARS A SHARP CLAW.

THE WINGS, USELESS FOR FLIGHT, ARE BARBLESS SHAFTS, A FEW INCHES IN LENGTH.

THE MALES GO THROUGH A MOST AMAZING SERIES OF DANCE STEPS IN ATTEMPTING TO IMPRESS AND WIN THEIR MATES.

ALTHOUGH THE BIRD CANNOT BE CONSIDERED BEAUTIFUL, IT IS MOST STRIKINGLY COLORED ABOUT ITS CURIOUSLY CRESTED AND WATTLED HEAD.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

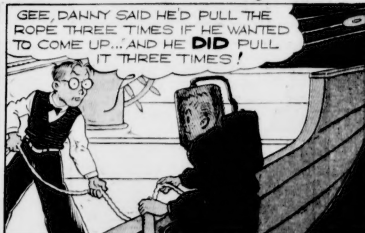

DANNY APPARENTLY IS HAVING AN ENCOUNTER WITH AN OCTOPUS...

AN OCTOPUS HAS GOT HIM, THAT'S WHAT! LOOK AT THAT BLACK WATER!

WHAT'LL WE DO?

I'M GOING DOWN THERE AND HELP HIM! GET ME A LONG KNIFE!!

GEE, DANNY SAID HE'D PULL THE ROPE THREE TIMES IF HE WANTED TO COME UP... AND HE DID PULL IT THREE TIMES!

GOSH, IT'S SO DARK I CAN HARDLY SEE DOWN HERE!

DANNY! HOW'D YOU GET UP HERE? I DIDN'T PULL IN YOUR ROPE!

I CLIMBED UP THE ROPE MYSELF!

WHERE'S FRECKLES?

HE WENT DOWN THERE TO LOOK FOR YOU! WE THOUGHT YOU WERE IN TROUBLE!

WE'LL PULL HIM UP AGAIN, AND THEN ALL THREE OF US CAN HAUL IN MY ROPE, AND SEE WHAT'S ON THE OTHER END OF IT!

DANNY, YOU'RE SAFE? GEE, I'M DISAPPOINTED! I WAS HOPING I COULD RESCUE YOU!

GIVE ME A HAND ON THIS OTHER ROPE!

WHAT'S IT TIED TO?

IT WAS SO MUDDY DOWN THERE I'M NOT SURE... BUT I HAVE A GOOD IDEA!!
